(1) The first name and the middle name or initial, if provided, shall be consistent with the information provided on the person's application for voter registration. Hyphenated names shall be permitted if not inconsistent with the information provided on the person's application for voter registration.

(2) If the name on the document is inconsistent with the applicant's name as it appears on the application for voter registration, the election officer shall perform the following:

ECONOMIC IMPACT STATEMENT
K.A.R. 7-23-4, 7-23-14, 7-36-7, 7-36-8, and 7-46-1 through 7-46-4

I. Summary of Proposed Regulation, Including Its purpose:

K.S.A. 7-23-4. This regulation pertains to the notice posted by each county election officer about voter registration procedures before each election. The legislature recently changed the voter registration deadline to the 21st day preceding an election and moved the date opening advance voting to the 20th day preceding an election. This regulation is amended to incorporate this legislative change.

K.A.R. 7-23-14. This regulation details the process by which county election officers and the Secretary of State should assess documents submitted as evidence of United States citizenship. Evidence of United States citizenship is used to ensure that qualified electors are eligible to register to vote. The purpose of this regulation is to give guidance to the assessor as to which factors should be considered while taking into account possible events in the life of an individual such as marriage, divorce, name-change, change in gender, etc. This regulation ensures that qualified electors will be able to vote regardless of the existence of these life events. Additionally, this regulation sets out the timeline for the submission of a proof of citizenship document by a voter as it relates to other registration and election dates.

K.A.R. 7-36-7. This regulation details the procedures by which advance ballot applications to vote by mail should be processed and advance ballots issued. The purpose of this regulation is to ensure that advance ballot applicants will, at a minimum, receive a provisional ballot. It also lays out the responsibilities of county election officers to attempt to contact applicants if information is illegible, incomplete, or inaccurate. This regulation gives voters every opportunity possible to submit the information required to obtain an advance ballot by mail.

K.A.R. 7-36-8. This regulation details the application of the Uniformed and Overseas Citizens Absentee Voting Act (UOCAVA) in mail ballot elections. The purpose of this regulation is to state the deadlines applicable to UOCAVA voters considering that recent legislation requires all local issues and questions be submitted to UOCAVA voters. This requirement applies even if these issues or question are submitted through a mail ballot election.

K.A.R. 7-46-1. This regulation details the process by which a voter may submit a photographic identification document after casting a provisional ballot. The submission of a sufficient photographic identification document will result in the provisional ballot being counted. This regulation ensures that voters will have every opportunity possible to submit the required photographic identification document before the county canvass.

K.A.R. 7-46-2. This regulation details the process by which an election board worker should assess the validity of a photographic identification document submitted by a voter to establish the voter's identity. The purpose of this regulation is to give guidance to the election board workers to ensure that votes are counted regardless of the existence of nick-names, abbreviations, name-changes due to marriage or other legal action, change in gender, or other circumstances affecting an individual's name or appearance. This regulation also ensures that all voters will receive, at a minimum, a provisional ballot and that no voter will be turned away at a polling location without receiving a ballot.

K.A.R. 7-46-3. This regulation details the process by which a voter may declare a religious objection to photographic identification requirement. The purpose of this regulation is to set out the time-frame and process for such an objection to be declared.

K.A.R. 7-46-4. This regulation details the interaction between permanent advance voters and the photographic identification requirement. The purpose of this regulation is to set out the time-frame and process for permanent advance voters to be exempted from the photographic identification requirement.

II. Federal law requirements:

The proposed regulations and revocations are not mandated by federal law, nor are they required for participation in, or implementation of, a federally subsidized or assisted program. The proposed regulations and revocations do not exceed any requirements of federal law.

III. Economic Impact:

K.A.R. 7-23-4. The economic impact of this regulation on county election officers is expected to be nonexistent because the change in the regulation is simply a date change. There is no significant economic impact anticipated on any county election officer, state agency or the general public because no county election officer, state agency or the general public will be required to perform any act not already being performed.

K.A.R. 7-23-14. There is no significant economic impact anticipated because of this regulation on any county election officer, state agency or the general public because the assessment of evidence of United States citizenship is required by statute. This regulation merely gives detail as to the process by which such evidence should be assessed.

K.A.R. 7-36-7. There is no significant economic impact anticipated because of this regulation. County election officers already have procedures in place for contacting advance voters as necessary.

K.A.R. 7-36-8. There is no significant economic impact anticipated because of this regulation. The law requires ballots to be mailed to UOCAVA voters in mail ballots elections. This regulation merely clarifies the date by which county election officers must transmit the ballots.

K.A.R. 7-46-1. There is no significant economic impact anticipated because of this regulation. County election officers already have procedures in place for accepting voters' identification documents after election day. This is done during the period when provisional ballots are being researched in preparation for the county canvass. The period allowed for this process in law was lengthened this year with passage of legislation moving the date of the county canvass later.

K.A.R. 7-46-2. There is no significant economic impact anticipated because of this regulation. This regulation is intended to define the procedure used by election board workers as they assess the validity of voters' identification documents. That duty is assigned by law; this regulation does not assign new duties.

K.A.R. 7-46-3. There is no significant economic impact anticipated because of this regulation. County election officers already have procedures in place for accepting documents and assigning or changing voters' status in the statewide voter registration database. The forms are available to voters online. Some forms may be submitted to election board workers at the polling place on election day, but this process will not add to the time necessary for voting; it replaces the process of submitting photographic identification.

K.A.R. 7-46-4. There is no significant economic impact anticipated because of this regulation. This regulation clarifies the process of applying for permanent advance voter status as it relates to the one-time submission of photographic identification. The permanent advance voting process has been provided for in law for many years and is well known to county election officers.

IV. Less Costly or Intrusive Methods:

The evaluation of other less costly or intrusive methods was unnecessary because the changes or revocations described either have no significant economic impact anticipated while maintaining the present level of services. These regulations merely provide detail to requirements now existing under state law.
